

The Carmel Pine Cone

The Editor's Column

By FRED BECHDOLT

In an editorial, published some months ago, the magazine Fortune summed up the world situation in words, to this effect:

"We have arrived at a pass where man has got to learn to live with man. It is as simple, and as hard, as that."

And since that time, striving to meet this situation, the nations of the world have reached a near crisis where the imminent possibility of another war, more cataclysmic than all preceding wars combined, is placarded almost every day in the headlines of newspapers on both hemispheres.

What in the hell ails us human beings anyhow?

If that question were my own, I would hesitate to publish it. But it has been voiced by so many bewildered victims of what is euphemistically known as modern civilization that it hasn't even news value.

Being an old man, and therefore supposed to be blest with the wisdom of experience which entitles one to sound off at the risk of boring all hearers, I am going to use this column, which Wilma has left open during her vacation, in hazarding an answer.

Looking back down a longer vista of years than I like to acknowledge, I have come to believe that the state which we have now arrived at is not civilization. On the contrary it is barbarism. It is a barbarism more terrible than any which the world has ever known, because it is highly organized, efficiently directed and skillfully camouflaged in the guise of civilization.

I do not mean that the huge herds of mankind in our so-called civilized nations want to comport themselves like Sioux Indians or like the hordes of Ghengis Khan. As a matter of fact I have an idea that the great majority of human beings in Europe and in parts of Asia and in America deeply desire common decency. But their leaders do not know the meaning of the word, or if they know it, they do not like it.

And by the leaders I do not mean those who make and administer the laws. I mean the high priests of a cold blooded materialistic ideology whose unholy trinity (Continued on page 16)

Carmel Dog Owners Warned Of Penalty For Unleashed Canines

Police Judge George P. Ross calls attention this week to the fact that there is an existing ordinance which prohibits dogs to run at large in city limits.

"There is a minimum fine of $25 attached to this offense," he said, "and a maximum of $300, as well as a 90-day jail sentence which can be invoked if necessary."

Because there has been an increasing number of dogs at large in the town, particularly in the business district, Judge Ross said that stern measures will be taken if owners do not keep their animals on leash.

Public Invited To Discuss Plans

A public hearing to discuss the creation of a planning commission for the City of Carmel and the amending of the zoning ordinance to invest certain powers in the commission now held by the City Council has been set for next Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the council chambers.

Carmel property owners are invited by Mayor Fred Godwin and members of the council to attend and give their views on the matter. Council members as well as members of the commission are expected also to express their views on the subject. Results of the hearing will be taken under consideration by the council at a later date. Routine business will comprise the balance of the meeting.

And so one World War was fought—and then another! May we not break that faith again!

In memory of those from Monterey County who gave their lives on Bataan to uphold that faith, a Memorial Wing to the Salinas Memorial Hospital will be built. The hospital is a community non-profit organization for the benefit of Monterey County patients.

In order to raise funds to erect this wing the Memorial Association is sponsoring a "Carmel Carnival" on Friday, September 27, at the Mission Ranch club. The management of the Mission Ranch club is giving over the entire Ranch for the evening and also providing the orchestra.

Spanish, Philippine, and American music, entertainment, and games will be the program for the evening. There will also be a "Tombola" (which is Spanish for "you know what"). There will be tickets sold for prizes and also gate prizes.

Zora of Altadena Farm, a beautiful shiny black Great Dane, and a sister to the Virgil Partch's Ajax, came into the Pine Cone office Monday to be interviewed. In the first place, she was indignant at the statement in this column that her brother consumed, among other things, five pounds of horse meat for breakfast. I explained to her that it had been written in the nature of a joke and she was somewhat mollified. Zora says her breakfast consists of a quart and a half of milk and two eggs, while for supper she consumes a pound-and-a-half of meat, mixed with green vegetables and kibble. Father of these two is Jox of Altadena Farm, and they are all relating ed to Ch. Ajax Von Klausenburg, one of the finest Danes of all time. Mrs. Marcella Menard, owner of Zora and Jox, plans to enter both of them in the Del Monte Kennel Club show at Mission Ranch on September 22. Mrs. Menard's Altadena Farm is near San Jose.

The Custom House Museum recently was the recipient of a huge cannonball, found in Monterey near a warehouse by the breakwater by four small boys. The lads managed, with great difficulty to get the heavy object on a wagon for transportation to Mrs. Mary Greene, museum curator. The trip took two days, and the cannonball was hidden near the Presidio the first night. Whether or not the discovery has historical significance has not been ascertained, but some authorities believe it may have been a domestic ball and chain for errant spouses.

St. James Episcopal Church in Monterey recently celebrated the admission to U. S. Citizenship of thirteen members of the church's free school of citizenship, headed by Mrs. Adelia Bryant Colletta.

Over 100 members of the parish attended the ceremonies. The new citizens were presented with American flags by Monterey's Police Chief Fred Moore, and other speakers included the Very Reverend Vesper O. Ward, canon of Grade Cathedral in San Francisco; Mrs. Ward, and the Rev. Vincent Colletta, pastor of St. James Church.

Sunset Fall Term Plans Announced

Sunset School opens for the fall term on September 10, with registration of new students taking place September 3 to 6 between 9 a. m. and noon, according to Arthur Hull, principal.

There will be five new members of the faculty, and Carmel students will be able to look forward to general playground and classroom improvements.

Hull this week emphasized the fact that children who attended Sunset School last year do not have to come to school before Sept. 10, and on that day lists will be posted outside classroom doors to show to what class each child has been assigned.

All children enrolling at Sunset for the first time must register on the above-mentioned days. Children coming into grades 2 through 7 for the first time are required to bring their report cards and promotion certificates. Children enrolling in the kindergarten must be four-and-one-half years of age by September 1, which means that the date of birth must be Feb. 28, 1942, or before. Parents entering new children in the kindergarten are asked to bring in a birth certificate or other documentary evidence of the child's birth date.

The complete faculty list is: Arthur C. Hull, principal; Miss Lela Becker, kindergarten; Miss Marjorie McCausland, first; Miss Constance McLaughlin, 1st; Mrs. Katherine French, 2nd; Miss Winifred Regier, 2nd; Mrs. Edna Lockwood, 3rd; Mrs. Virginia Nye, 3rd; (Continued on Page Four)

Society Plans Music Concert

A memorial concert honoring the late Frederic M. Blanchard and Mrs. Mary Blanchard, who passed away recently, will be held sometime next spring, it was decided by directors of the Carmel Music Society in meetings held last Monday and also the preceding week.

Mrs. Blanchard, in her will, left a bequest of $25,000 to the Society, with the express wish that the major portion of the funds be used to obtain outstanding artists for the community. Knowing that Sunset Auditorium is so limited in capacity as to often fail to break even at the end of a season, Mrs. Blanchard indicated that the bequest be used for underwriting great artists for Carmel.

The directors at present are attempting to obtain Parla Jonas, brilliant young Polish pianist, for the memorial concert. The evening will coincide with the annual meeting of the group and will be free to season subscribers.

It has also been decided to make up the balance in the piano fund from the bequest to purchase a Steinway concert grand when one is available. At present this fund contains $2,350.

Because advance orders for season tickets are already being received, it is probable that the entire house for each concert for the coming season will be sold to subscribers.

Mr. Blanchard was a charter member of the society, and Mrs. Blanchard had been a contributing member since its organization.

SUNSET FIELD SCHEDULE

Tonight—Champions of Fort Ord League vs. Pine Cone—8 p. m.

Tuesday, September 3—Castroville Dons vs. Pine Cone—8 p. m.

Wednesday, September 4—Lions Club vs. H. S. Stars—8 p. m.

Thursday, Sept. 5—High School Football Practice—7:30 p. m.

The softball game between the Castroville Dons and The Carmel Pine Cone will be the third meeting of the two teams. In the first game the issue could not be settled after playing 12 innings and the game was called with the score zero-zero. The second contest saw the Pine Cone nine squeeze across a run to cap the contest 1 to 0. This game should be a fitting climax to a grand season of softball, and should provide entertainment for a capacity crowd.

The game between the Lions Club and the High School All-Stars on Wednesday is in the nature of a play-off to decide the city champs. The Stars won both sections of league play and the Lions were in the runner-up spot. This game will be the last of the year at Sunset Field.

CARMEL PINE CONE NINE MAKES FINE SHOWING

Although the Carmel Pine Cone softball team was finally eliminated from the State Tournament at Stockton, they acquired a host of followers by their hustling play and sportsmanship. In their first game the locals played before a sprinkling of fans who made the trip from Carmel to root them on to victory. Even in losing this game the team made friends of the Stockton fans and were rewarded by a larger turnout in their next two games, which were victories. In their final game, played Monday evening, fifteen hundred Stockton fans rooted for the Pine Coners to defeat their own State Champs—the Native Sons of Stockton. The local nine made a valiant bid for victory but were edged out 4 to 3—a fine effort by a fine team.

KY BLANKS K. B. NUTTING

Setting down 14 of their hitters via the strikeout route, Ky Miyamoto held the Stockton nine well in hand and led the Carmel Pine Cone team to its first State Tournament victory. The Nutting club could garner only 1 hit off Ky while the locals were finding the Stockton hurler for 4 hits and 5 runs.

Errorless ball in the field helped to keep the Nutting team away from the plate and made the going easier for the locals. Jay Huffman, Carmel catcher, provided the big punch at the plate when he slammed a round-tripper with the bags bulging. Jay also collected a double to make it two for four for the day.

Going into the sixth inning the game was a neat pitchers' battle with Ky having a slight edge over Beckman, the Nutting hurler. Studevant started the Carmel rally by singling to start the sixth inning. Miyamoto and Cheshire were hit by wild pitches and the sacks were loaded—up steps Jay Huffman and blasts the first pitch for a ringing home run to clinch the contest for Carmel.

PINE CONE EVENS SCORE WITH OAKLEY ALL-STARS

Smarting under the defeat administered by the Oakley nine in their first meeting, the Pine Cone club came back with a vengeance and whipped the Stars 3 to 1, in their rematch. By this victory the Carmel nine kept its chances alive in the State Tournament, and earned the right to meet the Stockton Native Sons, last year's State Champs, in their next game.

Pitching his usual steady game, Ky limited the Stars to 1 run and 1 hit. With his curve ball snapping at the corners Ky struck out 12 batters and, until the last inning, kept the opponents from getting past second base. In the top half of the 7th inning Oakley started a rally which threatened to pull the game out of the fire for them. The leadoff man flew out to Fought in center field, but the next two men got on by virtue of a walk and hit batsman. When Ky walked the next man, the Pine Coners decided it was time to take definite action. It was Raleigh Belvail who provided the spark to put out the rally, when he raced deep into left to pull down a sure home run. After the catch, Raleigh whipped the ball to second base and doubled off the Oakley runner to end the game.

Carmel scored their three runs in the third inning by virtue of some nicely executed squeeze plays. Studevant, Pine Cone third sacker, drew a walk to start the rally and Miyamoto scored him with a perfect bunt. With Ky on third Huffman laid down another nice bunt to score Ky and advance to third on the overthrow at first. Jay later scored on a wild pitch. That ended the scoring for Carmel, but it was enough to hold the Oakley club.

FACULTY EDUCATES COPS—14-4; CLINCH SECOND HALF

Steeped with well-meant ambition to prove the High School All-Stars are not invincible, the Police softball nine sent their best on the field but fell before the crushing power of the Harris-led Stars. Minus the services of their unbeaten pitcher, Chuck Dawson, the Stars uncovered their darkhorse hurler, Ed Harget, who handcuffed the law-enforcers throughout the contest.

The devastating bat work of Doerr, Goodrich, and Westover, plus the brilliant play of Shortstop Lee Winslow left the Police helpless to defend themselves.

LIONS DOWN SMOKE-EATERS

All hit no field. That tells the story of the Lion-Fireman softball contest last Friday. With base hits falling all over the orchard, and a fair smattering of errors to aid the offense, both teams accumulated enough runs to win several ordinary games. When the smoke of battle had cleared away the fans found the Lions out in front by the score of 14 to 7.

PINE CONE LOSES CLOSE ONE TO NATIVE SONS

After fighting their way through some tough competition in the State Tournament, the Pine Cone nine finally ran into last year's State Champions and were eliminated by a score of 4 to 3.

The Native Sons came with a rush in the first inning and scored two runs with the help of two Pine Cone errors. Both teams were playing under pressure and as a result there were seven errors in the ball game—5 for Carmel and 2 for Native Sons.

The winners tallied another run in the fourth and were given one in the sixth to make the score 4 to 0 going into the bottom half of the sixth. At this point the locals came to life and nearly tied up the ball game. Ricketts got a life on an error by the third baseman and Studevant singled to put runners on second and third. Reliable Ky came through with a smashing single to score Ricketts and Studevant. Fought then found the Stockton pitcher for a triple to score Ky. This ended the scoring for both teams with the result an elimination for the locals.

Thurman Fought garnered two hits in three times at bat to lead the Pine Cone bat wielders. Ky struck out 12 Native Sons batters and pitched his usual brilliant game, being especially effective in the pinches.

Margaret Christman Gives Deeply Spiritual Concert At The Mission

BY ELSIE MARTINEZ

Each year, as the finale in the commemoration of the death of Father Serra at Carmel Mission, a Sacred Concert is given under the direction of Noel Sullivan. The guest soloist this year was Margaret Christman, whose program of madrigals was one of the outstanding performances of the Bach Festival.

The concert opened with the Mission Choir's rendition of Will James' lovely Oh Hear My Prayer, which set the spiritual mood of the evening. Miss Christman then gave her concert of sacred songs: All In the April Evening, Robertson; Sing My Tongue In the Savior's Glory, Lowens; Just for Today, Seaver; Appalachian folksong, I Wonder as I Wander; Sighing and Weeping, Bach; Savior, Hear Me, Gluck, and The Blessing of St. Frances, Owen Silva. In these she was accompanied by the Choir.

Carmel Girl Killed In Cycle Accident

Doris Binse, 19, was killed instantly Sunday afternoon in a motorcycle accident which occurred near the Saratoga summit on the Big Basin Road. The young girl had been riding tandem on a motorcycle driven by Vaughn Duvall of Carmel.

According to the report made by Duvall, the motorcycle went out of control on the down grade and grazed the fender of a car driven by Rubin A. Dorman of Sunnyvale, Miss Binse, it is believed, was thrown under the automobile.

The accident victim had been employed for the past few months at the Powder Puff Beauty Shop here. Duvall, who received slight lacerations, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Duvall, of Carmel, and a Navy veteran.

Miss Binse is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Binse of Live Oak; a brother, Robert, Jr., of Live Oak, and a sister, Ellen Binse of San Francisco.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Block Funeral home in Gridley, and local friends attended.

Group Show At The Pat Wall Gallery

By NANCY LOFTON

The new group show at the Pat Wall Gallery on Olivier Street in Monterey is remarkable for the wide variety of techniques and mediums used by the exhibiting artists. You may compare gouache with straight water color, or wax crayon with ink on canvas, but all the pictures are characterized by what has come to be called the modern idiom of painting, with subheads entitled variously surrealism, primitivism, expressionism and abstraction.

Tom Valiant, of Fresno, has an abstraction done in wax crayon which has body and richness of color and texture, and Emil White, the Big Sur Primitive, who has caused quite a stir in the East, has a fantasy in the show, a vision of San Francisco, which is fresh and pleasing and lively. Richard Lofton is represented by a pen and wash drawing of negroes hoeing in the field with rhythm implicit in every line. Pacho Ferro's pastel drawing has an amorphous, dreamlike quality in contrast to the simple statement of Elwood Graham's abstractions. These mentioned are but a few of the pictures in the show, for the work of Andre Moreau, Marny George, Susan Wall, Richard Diebenkorn, and Henry Miller rounds out the show with variety of approach and technique.

This show will remain in the gallery until September 15, when the work of Raymond Johnson, of Santa Fe, New Mexico, one of the outstanding modern painters, will be exhibited.

WOMEN VOTERS

Plans for a new-members tea the last week in September were discussed by members of the executive committee of the League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula at the home of the vice-president, Miss Lydia Weld, on Wednesday afternoon. A speaker will be provided to discuss an international topic of special importance at the present time, probably the problem of the Balkan countries.

A campaign for enlarging the membership and giving adequate support to the national organization's drive to arouse the citizens to a greater interest in the United Nations efforts to achieve peace, will be part of the fall activities. In October a meeting will be arranged to consider the measures to be voted on in November, with a speaker to make clear for the average voter the meaning of the legal phraseology. No effort is made to direct how one shall vote, but the purpose is to make the meaning plain so that individuals can vote intelligently. All women

Miss Dorothy Geisselhart, 4th; Mrs. Alice Patrick, 4th; Miss Harriet Norman, 5th; Miss Jeanne Staffelbach, 5th; Mrs. Ann Uzzell, 6th; Orville Rogers, 6th; Mrs. Sylvia Jordan, 7th; Ed Harget, 7th; Mrs. Beatrice Rea, art; Miss Jean Stanbridge, music and Miss Florence Morrow, school nurse.

Mrs. Dorothy Skelley will be school secretary, this year on a full-time basis; Mrs. Mabel Hart will be cafeteria manager, and Tom Brosnan and Earl Bevertton, custodians.

Of the new teachers, Mrs. Alice Patrick is a graduate of San Jose State Teachers College, and has been teaching in Sacramento during the past year. She taught at Sun from 1936-41.

Orville Rogers is also a graduate of San Jose State and was principal of the Tenant Elementary School in Siskiyou County from 1937-42. He went into the Army in February of 1942 as a private and rose to the rank of captain, being released in May of this year. He has just completed summer session at U. S. C.

Mrs. Virginia Nye is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles and formerly taught at Mission School in San Bernardino County.

Miss Jean Stanbridge was graduated from San Francisco State College and later was a member of the college faculty.

Mrs. Beatrice Rea, a graduate of Fresno State College, taught in Madera from 1938-44, and was supervisor of elementary grades there through the 1946 term.

Other announcements regarding the school term made this week by Hull include: Raising of the price of the cafeteria ticket for one week from $1.00 to $1.25. He urges that parents who are able to feed their children at home do so, because of the expected crowded conditions in the cafeteria.

The hours for the first and second grades for the first week will be from 9 to 3, and after that the classes will be split into sections from 9 to 2, and 10 to 3, allowing for small reading groups. The third grade will attend from 9 to 3:30 during the first week, and the split after that will be from 9 to 2:30 and 10 to 3:30. From the fourth through the seventh, the students will attend regularly from 9 to 12 and 1 to 3:30.

New playground equipment installed during the summer includes a new primary slide and a new set of parazontal bars on the center field, a set of swings on the center field, and parazontal bars on the boys' field. A new lay-out on the primary field will be completed before the opening of school.

Venetian blinds have been ordered for two classrooms and they will be installed upon arrival. Three rooms have been painted, a new phonograph for the kindergarten has been purchased and three new sets of desks have been ordered. These will be for the two-seventh grades and one of the third grades. The primary field was surfaced just before the end of the school year and is now in excellent condition.

In commenting on the fall term at Sunset, Hull said that Carmel was fortunate indeed to have been able to obtain such outstanding people in the new members of the faculty, in view of the present shortage of teachers. All five instructors come with unusually high recommendations.

HIGHLANDS INN SOLD

Highlands Inn was purchased this week from former State Senator Ed Tickle by Don Burger, former manager of the Sir Francis Drake Hotel in San Francisco and the Savoy Plaza in New York.

Salinas Jaysee Opens For Fall Semester Sept. 3

Final plans have been made by the administration of Salinas junior college for registration for the fall semester which will occupy two days, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 3 and 4.

As in the past, registration will take place according to alphabetical order, it was stated by the Jaysee's President John B. Lemos. Students whose last names begin with the letters A through L will sign up on Tuesday; those with names beginning with the letters M through Z are expected to enroll on Wednesday. The importance of registering for the college opening on the times scheduled is stressed by President Lemos, who points out that class instruction begins on Thursday of the same week, September 5.

Starting also on Tuesday, September 3, will be the college bus runs operating each day, and use may be made of these buses free of charge by all registered students at the junior college. Buses leave the college campus upon the termination of classes each day at 4:35 p. m. The bus from Carmel leaves at 7 a. m. from the Standard station.

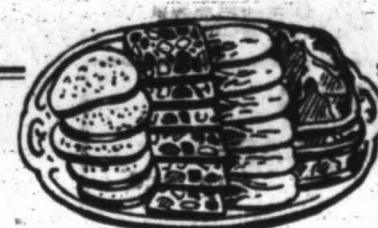

Carmel Students Cost More Than In 1943-44

Current expenditures of the Carmel unified elementary school district averaged $137.38 per pupil in average daily attendance in 1944-45, compared with $125.96 per pupil for 1943-44, California Taxpayers' association said today, making public its annual report on per capita expenditures of the larger elementary school districts in California. Data for 1944-45 are the latest available.

Expenditures by the district for teachers' salaries average $86.38 per pupil for 1944-45, compared with $80.47 for 1943-44. Other current expenditures were $51.00 for 1944-45 and $45.49 for 1943-44. Average daily attendance was 466 for 1944-45 and 461 for 1943-44.

ORDINANCE VIOLATED

A complaint charging that a red chow dog, being cared for by Mrs. J. E. Roche, attacked his Seeing Eye dog, was signed this week by Eben Whittlesey, Carmel attorney. The dog's owner, Simes Richards, is in the east. The complaint is based on violation of the city ordinance, which prohibits dogs to be at large in the business district.

Florence Hefling

Requiem High Mass was held at Carmel Mission Tuesday morning for Mrs. Florence L. Hefling, beloved Carmel resident who passed away at her home at Lincoln and Seventh Friday evening following an extended illness. She was 70 years of age and had lived in Carmel for the past 17 years.

Mrs. Hefling's husband is tax collector for the city, a post he has held for several years, and her son, Frank Hefling, is a member of the Carmel City Council.

Born in Windom, Minnesota, she became a school teacher and in 1893 went to Fort Simcoa, Washington, to teach on the Yakima reservation there. It was in this year that she met her future husband who had joined the government Indian service and was also stationed on the Yakima reservation.

At that time, Mrs. Hefling (Florence Green) lived with her aunt and uncle in the agency's official residence, all fourteen rooms of which had been built in New York, dismantled, shipped around the Horn and then packed over the mountains from Portland.

The couple were married in Tekoa, Washington, on November 9, 1894, and immediately after the ceremony they left for Mr. Hefling's new assignment at the Black Feet Reservation in Piegan, Montana.

In 1922 Mr. and Mrs. Hefling came to California and settled in San Jose, and in April of 1931, they came to Carmel to make their home. Mrs. Hefling, who made a hobby of collecting fine glass, china and other antiques, opened the What Not Shop.

On November 9, 1944, hundreds of friends of the popular couple dropped in to extend their congratulations and pay their respects on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary, and these hundreds of friends will mourn her loss.

Besides her husband, Thomas, and son, Frank, she leaves: two grandsons, Tommy and Gill Hefling of Carmel; two sisters, Mrs.

Pinafore Opens At First Theater

Pinafore opened last night at the First Theatre, Monterey, for an extended run, playing through the weekend and Saturday and Sunday nights throughout September and October. A review of the production will be carried in these columns next week.

Robert Bates, director of music at the Cranbrook School for Boys, in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, has directed the production. Mr. Bates holds an A. B. in music from Harvard University and was with the New York Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Company. He was musical director of the New England Festival Theatre in Connecticut and has won distinguished recognition as piano accompanist for concert artists.

Joy Wilkinson, thirteen-year-old pupil of Rachel Morton, will sing the role of Josephine, while Robert Jensen will appear as Ralph, the sailor lad. Holt Wood as Captain Corcoran, Dick Case as Sir Joseph, Betty Bass as Buttercup, Jimmie Di Napoli as Dick Deadeye, Deane Wilkinson as the Boatswain, Sally Drachenfels as Hebe, complete the principals, while the chorus includes Eleanor Kappes, Bonnie Fish, Charlotte Klausing, Dorothy Ingersoll, Lillian Duart, George Little, Harold Golden and Jack Wright.

Robert Bates will be at the piano tonight and tomorrow night. Settings are by Maxine Albro and Carmen Mercante acts as wardrobe mistress. Holt Wood will emcee the olio.

W. S. Adams of Vancouver, and Mrs. A. W. Foster of Portland; a brother, Allen A. Green of Glendale.

Following the services Tuesday morning, interment was made in the family plot of the Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

In the summer of 1918, the children's play at the Forest Theatre was Perry Newberry's arrangement of Alice In Wonderland.

Traveling with children?

Next time, try the train

The train offers a great many advantages to parents traveling with children:

1 Safety. Statistics prove that you and your children are safer on the train than in your own home. That's pretty hard to beat.

2 Low cost. Children under 5 ride FREE when accompanied by an adult, children from 5 to and including 11, half fare.

3 Pullman berths cost the same whether used by one or two people. Thus a mother with a child can "double up" with the child in a berth for no additional Pullman fare.

4 Children get seats in chair cars and coaches just like adults, even though they ride free or for half fare.

5 Southern Pacific dining cars offer a wide variety of food for children as well as adults. A special children's menu offers meals at less than adult cost. Ingredients and facilities are provided for the preparation of formulas and special diets.

6 On the train, children have plenty of room to move around. They aren't "cooped up" as in so many other forms of transportation. And they will get a friendly reception from our trainmen, most of whom have children of their own.

7 Traveling on the train is highly educational for children. They see their country intimately, at ground level.

8 Children love to ride on a train. Remember when you were a child—what fun it was to take a train trip?

Rachel Morton Presents Concert Of Wide Range, Exacting Quality

BY SOPHIE HARPE

Rachel Morton presented a program of wide scope and exacting quality last Saturday evening at the Carmel High School to an audience that comfortably filled the Music Room. A generous program of some twenty songs and four encores which surprisingly enough elicited an expression of faint though well-bred acclaim at first, nevertheless, as the program progressed changed to one of genuine enthusiasm. The hesitant response, not infrequently encountered in our Carmel audiences, may have been due in this case at least in part to an unrelieved preponderance of German "Lieder" in the first half of the program.

No doubt the closing group of English songs, comprising compositions of Dunn, Crist, Watts and Reger's beautifully rendered "Virgin's Lullaby", had the deepest appeal; especially so for those of us lacking the requisite linguistic background for complete understanding and enjoyment. Thank goodness instrumental music is beyond the restraint of language.

The last half, divided equally between French and English numbers, was very warmly received and Miss Morton was not permitted to retire from the stage until numerous encores were granted. A factor that contributed substantially to the evening's pleasure was the excellent support given in the superb accompanying of Robert Bates, who coaxed tones from the ancient Steinway reminiscent of the piano's erstwhile charming and lusty youth.

The opening Brahms songs were pleasing but with the singing of Franz "Im Herbst" Miss Morton commenced to hit her stride. Also included in the Lieder groups were compositions of Schumann, Hugo Wolf and Reger. Powerful drama and an especially beautiful tonal quality were evident in Erich Wolff's Alle Dinge Haben Sprache. Two pleasing Marx compositions were followed by Schubert's thundering Der Erlkonig, which is heavy going at best and following that, as encore, and bringing the program back again to a more enjoyable plane was Strauss' "Zueignung".

The French group comprising compositions of Duparc, Paulin, Faure and Debussy was artistically and musically speaking, at least to this reviewer, the most satisfying and afforded Miss Morton ample opportunity to demonstrate her truly beautiful pianissimo and her skill in portraying the interpretive subtleties of the French School.

The three encores which followed the final English group were Bridge's "Oh That It Were So"; "Four Ducks on a Pond", and a haunting Bantok composition, "Silent Strings". Before signing off I feel impelled to comment on the pleasure I always get from observing the charm and unusually high quality of Miss Morton's stage presence which so easily allows one to forget the mechanics of getting oneself on and off stage, or of acknowledging applause, etc., etc., and enabled her to do such a disarmingly nonchalant job of retrieving the recalcitrant bouquet!

Sheriff's Posse Rodeo Sunday and Monday

The Monterey County Sheriff's posse rodeo, which will be held Sunday and Monday at the new grounds three miles east of Salinas, is expected to attract a capacity crowd from this area. There is a seating capacity of 5,000 in the recently completed arena.

Events will include: Bareback, bronc and Brahman riding, calf and team roping, steer wrestling, single steer stopping, one-fourth and one-half mile racing and open stock horse classes.

CURTAINS CATCH FIRE

An electric hot plate left connected at the M. H. Brattin home, Monte Verde between 3rd and 4th, on Wednesday, was responsible for a blaze which started in the kitchen curtains, according to a report from the Carmel Fire Department. The house was unoccupied at the time and neighbors noticed the smoke. There was little damage.

(Continued from Page Two) runs in the first three innings to give themselves a comfortable margin. Heavy stick work by Clemens, Cook, and Wilder contributed to the deluge of runs. The Firemen kept pecking away at the offerings of Paul Clemens and in the third and fourth innings picked up a total of five runs. A mighty triple by Warren was the lethal poke in this flurry. In the first of the seventh it looked as though the Firemen might stay up all night when Studevant and Bracisco led off with four base socks. However, Clemens started employing his tantalizing upshot and put out the fire.

With this victory the Lions earned undisputed position of second place in the Adult Recreation League.

RECREATION PROGRAM ACTIVITIES

Today officially ends the Carmel Unified School District Summer Recreation Program. Starting June 24th the Recreation Program has provided active and passive recreation activities for hundreds of children and adults. Events highlighting the program have been: Tennis tournaments, swimming meets, two softball leagues, puppet shows and story hours, daily swimming at Howden pool, Monday swim festivals at LaPlaya Ranch, badminton and basketball, teen age dances, and countless hours of play at Sunset playground and game room. Many thanks are due: Mrs. Grace Howden and Fred Godwin for contributing their swimming pools; Gene Ricketts and the McDonald Dairy for providing transportation to LaPlaya pool; Mrs. Elizabeth Cass, Joe Fratessa, Leo Harris, and Cliff Cook for serving on the committee organizing the program; Dorothy Skelley, Evelyn Nidever Hildebrand, Laurel and Carol Hildebrand, Ted Fehring, Ed Harget, Leo Kohler, and Newt Goodrich who did a grand job of supervising the activities; the Carmel Unified School District Board of Directors who had the foresight to provide recreation activities for the community; the patrons of clean sport and healthy play who contributed work, money, and support to provide the lighting at Sunset Field.

SWIMMING MEET RESULTS

During Monday's swim session at the La Playa pool awards were presented to some 30 swimmers who placed in various events of the swimming meet. Standard events were not the order of the day, but youngsters of all ages were given an opportunity to show their aptitude in the water.

First, second and third winners: 20 yard free style—Paul Ricketson, David Hildebrand, Walt Shaw. 20 yard free style (girls)—Diana Ramsey, Collette Ferguson, Joy DeAmaral.

40 yard free style—Peter Berg, LaGree McNeil, Art Harber.

40 yard free style (girls)—Lorraine Daniels, Carol Hildebrand.

Mission Ranch for MODERN LIVING

Your home will be ready to "take delivery" and connect the many mechanical servants you plan to buy if that home has "Certified Adequate Wiring." When you see the "Adequate Wiring" symbol on a home being built or remodeled, it means plenty of circuits of large enough wire, plenty of outlets and switches for a lifetime of modern electrical service.

Too often, house wiring is designed for lighting alone so that lights blink when the refrigerator motor comes on or the washing machine or iron is being used. That means voltage has dropped and the lights and appliances on that circuit must work harder and longer.

Prepare your home for the future, wire ahead. Insist on Certified Adequate Wiring under the floorboards and inside the walls.

Days Before Yesterday

This year ceremonies commemorating the anniversary of Fra. Junipero Serra's death were confined to religious observances and an evening concert for the general public in the mission by the mission choir, a dignified and appropriate program in memory of a beloved priest in the process of being canonized. But it was not always so on the peninsula.

In the fall of 1927 the anniversary of the death of the Padre was the occasion for a three day celebration that ran the gamut from a Serra Pageant in the Forest Theatre, with a cast of 200, to the production of Uncle Tom's Cabin at the Golden Bough Theatre, with a cast of "many of the best known artists, writers and amateur actors of Carmel's celebrated intelligentsia" (Pine Cone, September 9, 1927).

In addition to the dramatic attractions at night, there was a military parade, review and mounted field day at the Monterey Presidio Saturday morning and afternoon.

Sunday's program included the Chain of Missions Pilgrimage, which started at the Junipero Serra monument at the Presidio in Monterey. "On foot and taking the same path as that so often trod by the Padres in the olden days, a great procession led by Monsignor Ramon Mestres and other dignitaries of the church, with a band of boy acolytes from Watsonville Catholic school, will come over the hill and to the Mission San Carlos del Rio Carmelo. There will be held a roll call of the Missions, a ceremonial of impressive dignity, before the sarcophagus of the great Serra.

"At the Del Monte golf links, in the morning and afternoon of Sunday, the women's golf championship will be decided, and many who are too feeble to walk over the hill to Carmel will follow the contestants around the eighteen holes. And on Sunday evening, at 8:00 o'clock, the Blessing of the Fishing Fleet, an illuminated water pageant, will take place in Monterey Bay, off the new municipal pier, and wind up the celebration for 1927."

The Serra Pageant program listed Francis Josef Hickson as Fray Junipero Serra; Charles Allair, Fray Gomes; Neville Brush, Fray Crespi; Clyde Dorsey, Don Jose de Galvez; J. A. Eberhardt, Lt. Pedro Fages; Frank Sowell, Jr., Ramon Ortiz; Stuart Work, Juan Mendez; Helen Judson, Teresa Segura; Maria Antonia Bach, Francesca; Esther Tearle, Duenna; Leda Gregory Jackson, Singer; Margaret Lial, Herald; Giles R. Cano, an Indian chief; R. K. Abercrombie, Onesimo, a Brave; Elaine Carter, Hetla, Indian Maiden; Charles A. Kiernan, Don Caspar de Portola; Hildreth Taylor Masten, Indian Dancers; Hilda Argo, Indian Woman; Emmett McMenamin, Sergeant Ortega; E. R. Morehead, Captain Canizarea; W. W. Nielsen, Alcalde; Irene MacCaulay, Madrina; Bruce Monihan, Duenna; Leda Jackson, a singer; Helen Judson, Teresa Segura.

Dances were arranged by Ruth Austin. Solo dancers were Jane Foster, Marian Minges, Elaine Legere and Carol Hunkins.

Chanting Friars were Thomas V. Cator, F. O. Robbins, V. M. Bain, G. Binney, Sam Miller and W. H. Normand. Clay Otto presided over the lighting; Guy Wolter was the stage manager, and Mgr. Ramon Mestres and Perry Newberry were authors, producers, directors and guardian angels.

It must have been quite an affair, even though the reviewer, Thomas Vincent Cator, says the pageant was "somewhat ragged in spots."

But Cator made up for it by winding up his review with a quote from a Mr. Albert Stabell, theatrical producer from Los Angeles.

"I thought you said these were all amateurs."

As the Pine Cone has pointed out in the past and probably will continue to do so, there is no reason why present-day so-called amateurs should not get together and produce some more of these open-air pageants, light operas and other dramatic productions.

BRAHMS FIRST, FOURTH MOVEMENT

(To Edward Azhderian, young conductor of the San Jose Symphony Orchestra)

Life is a struggle for survival:

A shout, heart conceived;

A dream of beauty

Born of pain.

As it is, let it unbend:

Let it seek brothers and march—

A song of pride on every mouth,

Hand on hand, eyes sharp to the sky.

Let it unbend, yes:

Let it meet pain with pain,

And laughter with laughter;

Let it reach

The summit, and then,

On every lip a prayer,

Until God, all majesty—

The Verb, the End and the Beginning—

Approaches in solemn benediction.

TREE-GOLD, GOLDEN SPRING

Remembering you . . . a memory

Of tree-gold, amber-bodied sea . . .

It is a way of thinking, a clash

Of wand on wand; a waving tree

Of light and sound. Wings flashing, wings

An azured sail; bird to bird sings,

Throat on throat bright with singing, bringing

In the—mirrored imaginings.

Then by your side (remembering you)

An undemanding love will know

Secrets to add to memory:

Seasons less tightly sheathed, a clue

To willow-leaf and pollen tingle,

Drifting as tree-gold, golden spring.

PADEREWSKI

June, 1946

Now long light flows across these bladed slopes

Sown with the hearts of men—over this low room

Where we guard your cherished dust.

Five years have passed. Today, laying the wreath,

Let us recall what compassion, prodigal giver,

Made music open star-gates on God's love

Till men of every race felt shackles fall,

Borne by that tide of sound to a free place.

Let us recall how your burden did not lift,

And when again your peoples' blood reddened

The Polish plain, hear, swift on the air

The old valor defy the new invader;

Your challenge: "Let the Panzers come!"

Here we incarnate still

The majesty of Poland's martyrdom."

Though the body lies beyond the inviolate door,

The power it channeled, that holy fire, burns

In every scarred advance toward brotherhood.

God still is chary of such gifts as yours:

March with us! Quicken the despairing heart!

Have You Read . . . ?

By EDWARD O. SISSON

(A review of George Santayana's The Idea of Christ in the Gospels. Scribner, 1946. Pp. 266. $2.75.)

I think it was Carlyle, so often irascible and bitter, who called Jesus "Our divinest symbol"; this book by the subtle and eloquent Santayana offers the most impressive and lovely portrayal of the symbolism I have yet to find. More moving, perhaps, is Sholem Asch's "The Nazarene"; but Asch's book is plainly more fictional than descriptive, and tends to leave the reader with no deeper or clearer sense of the meaning of Jesus; it suffers also from being the work of a member of a group officially averse to "The Idea of Christ". But Santayana brings to his task all the wealth of Catholic tradition and ideology, all the riches of our western philosophy, and the heart of a poet. I cannot imagine any intelligent man to come out of the earnest reading of this book without profound change in his concept of the Idea of Christ and of the total symbolism of the scripture record and the Christian theology. I would go further and say that although Santayana holds to the word Christ throughout, hardly ever using the name Jesus, still he gives us the most moving and tender portrayal of the man Jesus. The fact that one may not always agree with the picture is nothing to the point.

Now Santayana is one of the most brilliant of living writers, richly endowed by nature with keen intelligence and uncommon poetic imagination, read by a multitude of eager minds and deeply pondered by his fellow philosophers. I do not know of any man of comparable gifts who has dealt with this theme, in modern times at least. To me, the reading of the book was nothing less than startling. Now that I am finished and trying to set down my sense of its meaning I am still beset with questions about the book and the mind of the author. So too, I think, will be anyone with any considerable previous acquaintance with Santayana. I suspect those who have read mostly his poetry will find their way more easily than those who have been mainly concerned with his philosophical writings. But in any case such questions and even some perplexity need in no wise lessen the delight and the profit to be enjoyed. Certainly I recommend this work of his to every intelligent and humane person; after all, we call ours a Christian civilization, and this is a momentous contribution to the idea of Christ, which must be significant for our total culture and our whole historical experience through the so-called Christian centuries. I would dare to say that no one should presume to pass judgment on what we may call "official" Christianity without taking into account the wealth of thought and feeling here offered.

Also Santayana, being poet, fictionalist, and autobiographer, as well as philosopher, appeals to many readers who have little inclination to technical philosophy. What is the relation of this book to "The Last Puritan"? Or to the first two volumes of his autobiography? For my part acquaintance with these does not in the least prepare me for this book on Christ, but rather makes the book more astonishing. The aloofness, sophistication, even cynicism of the one Santayana seems unreconcilable with the warmth, the tenderness, the mysticism, of the other. Yet there is one aloofness in all: aloofness from "This World", the actuality of "Persons and Places", so often crude and repugnant to the sensitive self of the poet-philosopher. Nor can I find any vital linking of Santayana's own philosophy with this book on Christ. Not that I doubt for one moment that Santayana himself would assert the linking and point it out!

The book has two parts, first, "The Idea of Christ in the Gospels"—the title of the book itself; second, "Ulterior Considerations", which might be called the Idea of Christ in the mind of (Continued on Page Nine)

Conditions In Philippines Are Described At Asilomar Meeting

"We did not really prepare the Philippines for independence," said the Reverend Paul R. Lindholm, speaking to the M. E. M. conference at Asilomar recently. "We built up successful big industries (sugar particularly), but we did not develop self-sufficiency in the industry of the people." Mr. Lindholm went on to point out that the chief, and rich, industry in the islands, sugar production, was dependent for its profit upon trade with other countries, especially the United States, and when this was cut off the islands' economy suffered severely and great hardship resulted among the natives. Malnutrition, disease and terrific suffering followed the stifling of this main industry. If the Americans during their years of occupation had developed many smaller and varied industries among the Filipinos, it would have been easier to maintain the island's business and conditions today would be on a sounder economic basis.

Mr. Lindholm was a missionary to the Orient, working in China shortly before the Manchurian incident; for a time he was in and out of Japanese-held and of guerrilla-held territory. Then he decided that the Philippines would be a better field for his work, and he went to Negros island. His talk concerned the conditions of the natives from 1940 to 1945 and the close of the war. Early in the period he sent his family back to the United States, and for much of the five years he had little contact with any but the native guerrillas and the families hiding in the hills to escape the Japanese.

At the Japanese invasion, the Philippine government was dissolved, and for a time chaos prevailed; there were plundering, looting, and killing in the outlying districts and the mountains. Then officials of the churches risked their lives to form police forces to guard against the native bandits and the Japanese. County officials were chosen from the Christian natives, and soon the selection was legalized and throughout the occupation so far as possible the form of government was maintained. The church organization held together when other groups were dissolved, and they conducted food campaigns, enlisting all the people in the production and distribution of food, and also in distributing such medical supplies as they could obtain. They outlawed gambling and encouraged industry and co-operation for the benefit of all. These activities were carried on chiefly in the jungles and the hills, as the invaders occupied the coasts and had devastated the cities to a large extent, and interfered with the usual occupations.

The motto over the door of a Philippine normal school, according to Mr. Lindholm, expressed the ideal which the Americans had sought to instill in the Filipinos: Knowledge, industry, honesty; and it was those who had imbibed these Christian ideals that held the nation together in the years of oppression, and will be the leaders in bringing the people back to prosperity. The demoralized conditions existing under the Japanese occupation fostered threats and bribery, deceit and intrigue which must be overcome by right-thinking citizens.

But the national economy built upon one big industry instead of upon varied occupations which in large measure would satisfy the islands' needs will slow down the recovery of the Filipino people.

Have You Read...?

(Continued from page 8) George Santayana. A glance at the chapter headings is enough to make one reach for the book: The Messiah; the Son of God; the Son of Man; the Miracles; the Prophecies and Precepts; the Prayers; the Passion; the Resurrection. Think of listening to this many-minded thinker discoursing gravely, rather sadly perhaps, but always profoundly, on these age-old sacred themes! The chapter on the Passion is, I suppose naturally, the most moving; it seems to me doubtful, however, if anyone not nurtured in the ideology and emotions of the Catholic religion can grasp and feel it fully; yet, lacking that nurture, I still find it the most moving. Yet, even now, when I turn back to the chapter immediately preceding, the Prayers, I am almost tempted to give it first place.

Throughout one is beset with the question, How much and what, in all this story and all this doctrine, does this sophisticated man really believe? Frankly I should be afraid to put the question to him, lest he should answer with pitying contempt for my stupidity in asking. The very fact that a completely non-orthodox person may read the book with the greatest pleasure and great profit, as my own case proves, inevitably raises suspicion in the orthodox. Still I think the orthodox, with reasonable openness of mind and heart, may rejoice in it, perhaps quite as appropriately as the non-orthodox.

Yet there is one answer, if you can be sure of it; I will quote the passage: "As in poetry, so in religion, the question whether the

Emma Revare

Private funeral services were held Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Emma R. Revare, Carmel resident for the past 26 years, who passed away Friday evening after a long period of failing health. Her death occurred at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson.

Mrs. Revare was 94 years old and a native of Indiana. She was the widow of the late Louis C. Revare.

Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Rhoda Johnson of Carmel, and two granddaughters, Mrs. David K. Trevett of San Francisco, and Miss Gail Johnson of Carmel.

Services were held at Paul's Chapel in Pacific Grove with the Rev. J. E. Crowther officiating.

events described have actually occurred is trivial and irrelevant. Anything may occur in infinite time. The question is what light it would kindle within us, if it happened to happen. Facts matter little for the spirit except for what they mean to the heart." Pp. 173-4.

Further down in the same paragraph: "Lucifer might admit that a divine Christ has existed, yet disdain to imitate him; and a disillusioned philosopher might aspire to imitate him without believing in his existence."

Is it possible that the "disillusioned philosopher" is none other than the exotic and brilliant George Santayana himself? It is hard to think otherwise. But disillusioned from what illusions? Surely not the ordinary illusions of mankind, for they never deluded him; could it be from the illusions of his own inner spirit, the isolation, the reserve, the lofty disdain of everything crude or non-artistic, his own overall manner of life and thought and feeling? This would indeed explain the gulf between this book on the Christ and, so far as I can see, all his other published work and what little we know about his life. It is a bold assumption; but let it go at that.

 "Christ Jesus" is the subject for the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, September 1, with the Golden Text from John: "The Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son: that all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father" (5:22, 23).

The following citations are included in the sermon:

Matthew 2:1, 11: "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem. And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped Him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto Him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh."

St. John's Chapel is a beautiful little church nestling in a grove of giant oak trees. Men and women from many lands have found it to be a place apart. It may be that you also will find its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life. The Chapel is open all day long. Those who seek in its stillness to grow more conscious of God's presence do not go unrewarded.

Sunday services at eight and eleven a.m. The Chapel is close to Hotel Del Monte.

VIRGINIA MIKULAK, SOCIAL EDITOR

Married In L. A.

On Wednesday, August 21, Edith Cox became the bride of John Clancy. The 5:30 ceremony was performed in the Chapman Park Chapel in Los Angeles. Following the informal ceremony, which was attended only by members of the two families, there was a wedding dinner at the Chapman Park Hotel.

Edith was gowned in a short sleeved dress of light blue chantilly lace. Her matching mitts were elbow length. In her hair she wore pink orchids, and her corsage was of the same flowers.

Mrs. Thomas Gall, who flew down with her son Dick Cox to attend her daughter's wedding, was most beautifully attired in an afternoon dress of King blue with a stunning black ostrich hat and black accessories.

Others attending the ceremony were the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. John Clancy, Sr., and his sister Jean Clancy who arrived from their home in Indianapolis. Edith's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John McNaughton of Los Angeles, and John's aunt Mrs. Jay Gould.

The young couple returned to the Peninsula and their reception was held at the Del Monte Lodge on Sunday afternoon.

Receiving the 100 or more guests with Mr. and Mrs. Clancy were Edith's step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gall, her brother Dick, and Jay's sister, Miss Jean Clancy.

All Saints' Luncheon

Wednesday, September 4th, the Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church will resume monthly luncheons, after the summer holiday. Members of the Auxiliary and all others who may be interested are welcome to come and bring guests. The charge for the luncheon is 75 cents, and reservations should be made before Monday evening, September 2, by telephoning to the secretary, Mrs. E. R. Roberts, Carmel 2235-J. Luncheon is at 12:30 p. m. in the Parish House.

The luncheon will be followed by a talk by the well-known British author, lecturer and broadcaster, R. Ellis Roberts, and his subject will be "Religion and the Family." After the talk there will be a meeting of the executive board which will be open to any members of the Auxiliary who care to remain to listen.

Council Of Church Women

Monterey Peninsula Council of Church Women will meet at the Church of the Wayfarer next Friday, September 6, beginning with a box lunch at 12:15 in the social room, with tea and coffee served by the Women's Auxiliary of the church. Brief reports on the M. E. M. conference at Asilomar will be given at the luncheon meeting, and the usual offering for the leper work will be taken.

Mrs. Eva Gamble of San Jose, president of the newly formed United Council of Church Women of northern California and Western Nevada will be the speaker at two o'clock in the sanctuary of the church. This branch of the national organization was activated last February and aims to have fifty councils in the area by next February. The society is interdenominational, uniting women's groups of all the churches to work toward a common goal of better community life and wholesome conditions for the family. Mrs. Ramsey Benson of Carmel is president of the local council.

A radio broadcast over KDON at 9:45 will inaugurate the day's program. The talk, which is on Christian Unity, will be given by Mrs. R. Ellis Roberts, prominent member of All Saints' Episcopal Church. Arrangements for the broadcast were made by Mrs. John W. Dickinson, radio chairman of the Council of Church Women.

Miss Frances Cottle Johnson has just returned from a trip of several weeks to the East. Miss Johnson, who teaches English at Carmel High, visited in Dallas, New Orleans and Washington, D. C. She then went on to New York where she stayed with Mary McNamara in her Greenwich Village apartment.

Miss McNamara, who formerly taught in Carmel, is now connected with the United Nations in Radio Liaison work.

It was Miss Johnson's first trip to New York and she reports a very thrilling one, what with seeing the sights, taking in shows, and renewing acquaintances with old friends. Frances was urged to stay there but she says she'll take Carmel. Later she visited Jane Ellen Parker in Chicago. Miss Parker is the daughter of Mrs. J. S. Parker of Scenic Drive.

Attending Convention

Mrs. J. A. Canoles (June De-light) with her daughter, Patsy, drove up to San Francisco last Wednesday with Mrs. Frank De-Amaral and her son, Frankie. June is going to attend the Dancing Teachers' of California convention.

The convention will be held this Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the San Francisco Ballet School. Harold Christensen will teach ballet and Johnny Mattison will teach tap. June will also take some special work with Juanita La Bard in Spanish dancing and Stanley Kahn in tap. Mr. Kahn is the Dance Director for the Ice Follies. Friday Mr. Canoles is driving to San Francisco and the entire party is taking in the Ice Follies on Friday night. On Monday June Canoles leaves to resume her studies at the Moreland Notre Dame Academy in Watsonville.

Visitors for Brown Twins

Those traveling twins, Jessie Joan Beaver and Ellen Brown, are back at their mother's home again. They spent several weeks in Coronado, then home for a couple of days to see their mother, Mrs. Helen Brown, off to San Francisco for a few days and now are back home unpacking and settling down for some visitors.

Jessie Joan's mother-in-law, Mrs. Sara Belle Beaver of Beverly Hills, arrived on Wednesday. And on Saturday Jessie Joan's and Ellen's cousins, Mrs. Kathleen Brooks and Miss Marguerite Keel, are arriving from San Mateo for the Labor Day weekend.

Game Fever Gets Mike

Everybody thought it was watching his Dad and his teammates on the Carmel Pine Cone team beat out a 3-2 win over the Oakley All Stars at Stockton last Monday night that made Mike Ricketts break out in "goosebumps." Ah! But came morning and it turned out to be measles! Mrs. Ricketts had to drive him right home, where he is confined for the present.

Visiting From East

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Fletcher, their son, Jim, and their daughter and son-in-law, Alice and David Frevert, are spending the month with Mr. Fletcher's mother, Mrs. Ansel Fletcher, and his sister, Naomi Fletcher, at their home at 9th and Monte Verde. Jim Fletcher and David Frevert have recently returned from the European Theater of Operations. Mr. L. J. Fletcher is Director of Training and Community Relations for the Caterpillar Tractor Company of Peoria, Illinois. Both Jim and Alice Fletcher have attended Sunset School during visits with their grandmother. Down for the weekend to join the family reunion was Mrs. Fletcher's other son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fletcher of Oakland.

Sean Flavin Spending Summer
Sean Flavin is spending a few weeks at the Cachuaige home of his father, Martin Flavin. He plans to enter Stanford in the fall. Sean was released from the Navy in July. He served two years in Colorado and one year on a destroyer with the Atlantic Fleet.

Jake May at P. O.

Newest member of the Post Office staff is Jake May, nephew of Maurice Stoney, another Post Office employee. He was recently released from the army where he served as a paratrooper, making 18 landings in Europe. He was wounded twice during his two years and seven months with the 82nd Airborne. There are now 12 ex-service men on the staff of 17 at the Post Office, two of whom have served in both wars, Dave Askew and Postmaster Ernest Bixler.

Hostess Turns House Guest

Mrs. John Ehlers who has been the houseguest of Mrs. Nelle Leyman for the past two weeks has returned to her home in Huntington Park. Accompanying Mrs. Ehlers is her hostess, who will turn house guest and stay a short while with Mrs. Ehlers while enroute to San Diego.

Mrs. Leyman will spend the month of September in San Diego as the guest of Commander and Mrs. F. M. Lansdowne and their son, "Bundu."

Flying South

Mrs. Kathryn Lansdowne will board a United States Air Line plane and fly to San Diego on Saturday. While in San Diego she will be the house guest of the MacKinnon Lansdownes for ten days. Returning with Mrs. Lansdowne will be her sister, Mrs. Louise Grigsby, who has been spending the summer in San Diego with her daughter and son-in-law, Commander and Mrs. F. M. Lansdowne.

Enroute to New Home

Now that peacetime permits families to join their husbands overseas the Army transport Thistle embarked on August 24th for Hawaii with 242 Army civilians aboard.

Of the passengers 60 were Army dependents, the rest being civilian workers enroute to jobs in the Mid-Pacific islands.

Among the dependents were Mrs. Donald C. Hawley, and her sons, Donald S., Richard S., and David S., of Carmel. They are joining Lt. Colonel Hawley.

Weekend Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Delavan of Mountain View spent last weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Hull. The previous week Mr. and Mrs. Hull took a long deserved vacation and visited Yosemite.

Down From San Francisco

Bob Price, who has spent much time in the past in Carmel, came down from San Francisco this past weekend to spend several days renewing his many acquaintances here. Since his release from the Army, during which he served in the South Pacific, Bob has been engaged in publicity work in the Bay Area. At the present time he is also busy writing.

Meets Niece

Marjorie Jane Putnam Sinclair, who is Mrs. Gregg Sinclair of Honolulu, is visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Putnam of Carmel. It is the first time she has seen her brother in seven years, and the first time she has met her namesake and baby niece, Marjorie Jane Putnam. Mrs. Sinclair is in the States regarding the publication of a novel she has written about Hawaii. Her husband is the President of the University of Hawaii. Mrs. Sinclair has many friends here, being a frequent visitor to Carmel, which she says is still her favorite spot.

ON THE MOVE

Dear Public,

It's a tough problem to solve any way you look at it—this business of distributing Nylons... Last May we tried a plan and it worked fairly well; but here we are on the move again (always on the move) hunting for a BETTER, more equitable way, if possible, of getting our Nylons out to you... So-o-o here we go with

OUR NEWEST ADVENTURE IN NYLON HOSIERY DISTRIBUTION!

NOW—To Have Holman's Reserve a Pair of Nylon Hosiery for You, Please Follow
Carefully These Steps—

1. Tuesday, September 3rd, between the store hours of 9:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m., all women 16 years of age and over may register, alphabetical order—A through Mc in Hosiery Department, N through Z in Men's Shop... Street Floor.
2. Bring with you a self-addressed government postal card, on the back of which is written size of hosiery desired. Sorry, construction, color, make and price will again have to be left to chance.
3. As Nylons are available your postcard, validated by Holman's, will be mailed to you... You will then be given 7 days in which to present your card in person at Hosiery Department for purchase of Nylons.

*Be assured that you will receive your notice at the earliest possible date subject to receipt of shipment!

*Please do not telephone to ask the progress of your order.

ON THE MOVE

with Nancy Lofton

Miss Edith Griffin, in the VILLAGE BOOKSHOP on Ocean Avenue between Dolores and San Carlos, has some of the cleverest manuals we've ever seen for assisting a child with his reading. These are the companions to the Crabtree Basic Primers, which come in subjects such as "The Runaway Toys", for the younger children, and "To School and Home Again". The manuals accompanying the primer take each new word as the child encounters it and develop it with drawings and handiwork. These manuals are not only excellent for remedial reading but also for rainy day entertainment. THE VILLAGE BOOKSHOP has also a complete line of dictionaries for school use—and a fine list of manuals for such activities as block printing, leather work and dress designing.

There's a handsome mahogany sewing cabinet down at FRISBIE'S FURNITURE STORE, on Dolores near Eighth, masquerading as an end table. This cabinet will be completely at home in any living room with its graceful design. It's twenty-six inches high—just the right height for a lamp, and its top is sixteen by twelve inches square. Of course the real joy in the cabinet is the ample space inside for darning and sewing supplies. The top drawer swings out on a pivot to reveal a complete stock of thread and darning cotton—and swings back again as quickly if company comes in. No more will you need to scramble your household through in search of scissors and thread. It's all safe and neat in your handsome sewing cabinet from FRISBIE'S FURNITURE STORE.

Ever since Hiawatha asked, "What is that, Nokomis?" and for some time before, doubtless, children have been making embarrassing queries of their elders. If you're tired of making inadequate answers about rocks and trees and sea-animals, the CARMEL BOOKSELLERS, on Mission near Fifth, will give you help with their series of the Thornton Burgess nature books. There's the "Burgess Animal Book", the "Burgess Bird Book", and the volumes about flowers and the seashore. If "Smoky" whetted the interest of your household about horses, the CARMEL BOOKSELLERS has five other books by Smoky's author, Will James. There's "Flint Spears", the story of a cowboy rodeo contestant, "The American Cowboy", "The Drifting Cowboy", "Cowboys North and South" and "All in the Day's Riding". James shares the corner with dozens of other children's books, from Kipling's classics to "The Bear That Wasn't". THE BOOKSELLERS will be in the shop on both Sunday and Monday of the coming weekend, so if the Labor Day press is too great on Ocean Avenue, you'll know where to go to find a haven.

A shaving brush of genuine European Badger hair for a man is about in the same class as a mink coat for a woman. STANIFORD'S DRUG STORE, on Ocean Avenue at San Carlos, now has these best of shaving brushes since the badgers have decided it's safe to come out of hiding. The bristles of badger hair are carefully set in the brush and are guaranteed not to come out or break off. If anything can make shaving a pleasure, a brush of GENUINE EUROPEAN BADGER HAIR can do it. STANIFORD'S has new nylon shaving brushes, too, which are hard to match for sheer beauty and durability. So make your choice—badger for the man who loves tradition—nylon for him who likes the new. They're both excellent brushes.

Those wonderful dish gardens in the N. B. FLOWER SHOP, on Lincoln south of Ocean, are no ephemeral decoration. If you will only take proper care of the plants, watering them and pinching them back at due times, they will grow and last for years. A new group of tropical plants has just come in to the N. B. FLOWER SHOP, and these are destined for handsome copper containers. If you wish you may bring in your own cherished bowl or dish and have Mrs. Neilson plant it for you. This morning she had a beautiful bowl of pure white marble which she was planting with great care, balancing the dark green of one plant with the pale green and white of another against the ribbon foliage in red-purple of aralia elegantissima. A dish garden from N. B. FLOWER SHOP is the work of loving hands and the easiest way we know to have a garden.

There are gowns for a complete bridal party at the CINDERELLA SHOP on Ocean Avenue, between Dolores and San Carlos, in the best CINDERELLA tradition.

The bride's dress is made of a wonderful brocaded taffeta in a creamy old ivory shade with a piquant bustle back and sleeves caught up in a sort of triple puff. Bridesmaids' dresses for the ensemble come in similar brocaded taffetas in maize, rose and aqua. They will look mighty pretty floating down an aisle—or on a dance floor, too. In the best jeune fille tradition, is a group of net evening dresses at the CINDERELLA SHOP with bouffant skirts, lace insertion, and pink rosebuds. There's a red and white checked taffeta in the shop, too, spiced up with black velvet ribbon that really should go off to college right away in someone's trunk. Not exactly for the young and tender is a siren sheath of black nylon taffeta with a ripple to its back, a flowing line in front and the fanciest little grandmother cape ever, all embroidered in black sequins and jet. No one will mistake you for a grandmother in THIS dress.

When Vogue speaks of precision tailored slacks its editors must have in mind slacks such as those at MAXINE'S on Dolores south of Ocean. The slacks at MAXINE'S come in wool and wool mixtures, and some of them are in ELASTIQUE, long favored for army of officers' pink. The tailoring and the cut of these garments are the best that Western Fashions have to offer, and it's a splendid best. Some of the slacks are in the "frontier style", with two pockets at the side front and a zipper in front. You may have them in army pink, brown, blue and black, in gabardine if you wish, although the Elastique models are what the pig-tail set calls "super". Everyone seems to be looking for classic gabardine dresses too and MAXINE'S has a large stock of the "Golf Dress" in wool and rayon gabardine, which certainly deserves the epithet "classic" and comes in two shades of gray, aqua, cocoa and chartreuse.

The new Haneel Tri-Vision Third Dimensional stereocamera in the BEAUX ARTS PHOTOGRAPHY SHOP on the corner of Lincoln and Ocean is certainly in the Hubba-hubba class. We saw a three dimensional transparency taken by this remarkable camera in which was as fine a brace of bathing beauties as ever graced Carmel's beach. This Haneel Tri-Vision Camera will take not only colored stereopticon views but also the conventional snapshots—in two dimensions—and take more of them per roll of film than an ordinary camera, getting twelve exposures per roll of Eastman 828 film. BEAUX ARTS has also the viewers in which to look at your startling pictures, complete with brilliant color, length, breadth and depth, and bathing beauties if you wish.

You might as well stay home and write letters these days, and the new Eaton writing papers at FORTIER'S DRUG STORE on the corner of Ocean and Dolores make the idea almost tempting. Eaton's RHODODENDRON paper will make a letter enticing regardless of its content. This paper is a fine cream with a velvety finish to make your pen glide along and sprinkled over it are bouquets of rose rhododendron. STRAWBERRY PATCH is equally fine, with strawberry decor. If you're addicted to flowered writing paper Eaton's PETALETS will please you. This stationery comes in two sizes, note and letter paper, decorated with either yellow freesias or wild roses, matched to the delicate coloring of the envelope liner. The colors used in Eaton's ROMANTIC AMERICA series of papers are most evocative. There's Indian Clay, a beautiful earth color, and Golden Wheat, warm and light in tone, and Lighthouse Blue. Make your letter writing a pleasure—enjoy the crisp light quality of Highland Airmail paper—or the heavy smoothness of Rhododendron. Make your choice from FORTIER'S.

Shining sequin butterflies in blue and silver and green and silver have come to light in THE CARMEL ART SHOP in the Seven Arts Court on Lincoln south of Ocean. These delicate and glistening creatures are waiting to be pinned on a dress or hat and they're so beautiful they won't be waiting long. The same hand that fashioned the butterflies has also made earrings, pins and combs for THE CARMEL ART SHOP, in bright sequins and tiny beads. Some of the designs are Persian in origin and others are simple fantasy. These will give your fall wardrobe a special glitter, and if you're interested in dressing up your house equally, you'll find several beautiful ceramic pieces by Helen Beecher in the shop. There's a torso in a white crackle glaze and another figure in a beautiful copper black finish which glows with silver lights. We liked her meditative Chinaman best, in a rich eggplant color with serenely folded arms and legs.

Mr. William Burke, of the CARMEL HARDWARE STORE, on Dolores south of Ocean, says he'd like to contribute his best wishes to all dove hunters for the coming season. With the shortage of guns and ammunition, best wishes are about all he can contribute. Mourning doves will begin mourning promptly at noon on Sunday, September first. According to the government hunting bulletin, you may also hunt bear, with either bow and arrow or firearms, but not until October 15.

According to Life Magazine, August 26, the return of men students to college campuses is accomplishing what all the would-be reformers of college girls' clothes have been unable to. The day of the shirt tail and the blue jeans seems to be numbered and college girls are actually beginning to wear hats and other accessories. PUTNAM AND RAGGETT, on Ocean Avenue, have a wide variety of those same accessories featured in Life, particularly the wide belts, buckled in brass and studded with headlight jewels, and mittens of wool and fur. There's a beautiful pair of sheared mouton mittens with leather palms in PUTNAM AND RAGGETT and others in white bunny. The knitted mittens are colorful as a Christmas tree, but the belts shame them all with the brilliance of patent leather and golden nailheads. If you feel a little more subdued, the shop has several fine belts in black and beige calf. Look to Life and PUTNAM AND RAGGETT for college accessories.

The Old Spice and Early American toiletries need no introduction. The quality of the lines and the attractive packaging of them are both so excellent that they sell themselves, but you might like to know that THE DOLORES PHARMACY on Dolores south of Ocean has a complete assortment of Old Spice and Early American toiletries for both men and women. The hobnail bottles of Early American toilet water and bath salts are pretty as a speckled pup, and there's a make-up box of Old Spice Cosmetics, with a large mirror, that will keep your dressing table neat and fragrant. We like the language of flowers as used by Early American. The toilet water comes with a sort of footnote, indicating that the scent of jasmine betokens amiability, while heliotrope is for admiration. For added spice DOLORES PHARMACY still has the great LANVIN and CARON perfumes, straight from Paris.

This item ought to bring a crush of mammas and daughters around THE SILVER THIMBLE's front door, for THE SILVER THIMBLE, on Dolores south of Ocean, has slips—good, inexpensive slips in a fine washable rayon—which are ideal for sending off to school. The slips are well made with slightly broader adjustable straps and some are lace edged, but they're all pretty, well-made and washable, and rayon, you know, stays white after repeated washings. There are some fine silk jersey nightgowns in the SILVER THIMBLE, too, some with stripes in gray, yellow, pink, and green, and some with a whole market full of fruit tumbled over them. Pajamas, shortie or long, in rayon or cotton are on the shelves along with quilted cotton lounging robes which are serviceable, colorful, washable, reversible, warm—in short, just what a school girl needs in a robe. All at the SILVER THIMBLE.

For your collection of demitasse or teacups, you should visit THE COVERED WAGON SHOP on Dolores south of Ocean. The shop has many beautiful demitasse in fine bone-china which have just recently come in from England, from the Minton, Colclough Hammersley and Crown Staffordshire factories, and a few exquisite demitasse in Irish Belleek. THE COVERED WAGON has imported many English cigarette sets, as well as delicate sugar and creamer sets of Italian pottery in various sizes.

JOYCE'S, on Ocean Avenue, has some elegantly intricate chatelaine pins in silver and moonstone which led us to inquire into the origin of their name. So here we go! A chatelaine was the wife of a castellan, that is, a man who dwells in a castle or chateau (from the Latin, castellanus), and being a woman of large responsibility and much property and perhaps not too trusting by nature, she kept her keys always about her, attached to her waist by a chain. In time the word chaelaine came to be used for any ornamental hook or clasp or pin fastened at the waist with chains attached for keys, trinkets or a purse. So there you have the origin of the name of JOYCE'S beautiful chatelaine pins, with their silver chains linking traditional heraldic motifs to decorate your lapels or the front of a dress.

What seems to be about the earliest breakfast in town is served by HILLYER'S COFFEE SHOP, on San Carlos south of Ocean. Colonel and Mrs. Hillyer open the doors at seven in the morning, and thereafter through the day, until eight at night, you may have good food at popular prices, nothing fancy, just good food, which is all the recommendation HILLYER'S needs. Even Colonel Hillyer's slight bout of seasickness, somewhat surprising after all these years, did not interrupt HILLYER'S service. The said seasickness was acquired on a boat in quest of a mackerel, and not in the coffee shop, but even so, you'll find very good mackerel at HILLYER'S.

Short sweaters to tuck in one's belt seem to be the thing right now, and here comes the COUNTRY SHOP, on Ocean Avenue between Lincoln and Dolores, with a sweater sale in which are many of the short sweaters. The sale begins today and for only two dollars and three dollars you have your choice of all-wool sweaters in red and brown and black and blue and a few other colors. Some of them are in a fine soft Shetland-type wool and there are cardigans, slip-ons and coat sweaters to choose from. There will be handbags on sale too, and anytime you can buy a good handbag for from $2.50 to $4.50 at the COUNTRY SHOP you'll do well to pay the shop a visit. The bags are in black and brown and navy, in faille, patten and calfskin.

THE DINING ROOM at LA RIBERA, on Lincoln south of Ocean, presided over by Mr. Thor Hellum, is becoming more and more of a community enterprise. In co-operation with the Carmel Art Association the DINING ROOM at LA RIBERA will hang one outstanding canvas from the gallery every month, to please the palate and

Landing Ship Tanks In Monterey Bay

Curious Peninsula residents who had been wondering about the arrival in Monterey Bay of three Navy manned and operated landing ship tanks will be interested to note that this is one part of the fall joint Army-Navy amphibious maneuvers, scheduled to take part off the lower California coast.

Immediately upon arrival the Landing Ship Tanks made ready for four intensive days of loading and unloading of equipment and men of the Fort Ord Amphibs.

Units that participated in simulated combat loading include the following assigned and attached elements of the Second Engineer Special Brigade: 542nd Engineer Boat and Shore Regiment; 162nd Ordnance Maintenance Company; Quartermaster Headquarters and Headquarters Company; 669th Quartermaster Truck Company; 41st Amphibious Battalion and small units of the Brigade. The 542nd Engineer Boat and Shore Regiment comprising 14 officers and 600 enlisted men and commanded by Colonel B. C. Fowlkes, Jr., has furnished by far the vast majority of troops.

Alice Ricketts

Mrs. Alice Flanders Ricketts, a resident of Carmel for the past 18 years and widely known here, passed away Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frances Strong at Portola and San Juan. She had been in failing health for some time.

She was a native of Massachusetts and was 83 years of age.

Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Strong; two sons, E. F. Ricketts of Monterey and T. H. Ricketts of Madison, Wisconsin, and several grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Paul's Chapel in Pacific Grove, with the Rev. Albert E. Clay officiating. Burial was in the family plot in El Carmelo cemetery.

One Case of Measles

The sum total of communicable disease in Carmel for the two-week period ending August 10 was one case of German measles, according to a report from the Monterey County Health Department.

In May, 1918, Miss Stella Vincent was appointed postmistress of the Carmel postoffice.

SCOUTING The SHOPS

(Continued from page 13) the eye simultaneously. It seems a very good idea for a dining room to have some interesting pictures for the guests to look at between courses. La Ribera DINING ROOM serves no wine, beer or cocktails, but you don't need that to enjoy the delicious food and the picture of the month—and who wants wine with those delicious meals served at the DINING ROOM of LA RIBERA?

It's a good thing for painters when their pictures come out of museums and galleries and hang where people are living and working and eating, and CASA MUNRAS HOTEL, on Fremont and Munras in Monterey, qualifies on all three counts. A group of pictures from the Pat Wall Gallery in Monterey is now being hung in the lobby of CASA MUNRAS, and this is just a foretaste of a larger group of pictures to be hung in the Patio Room. There's much remodeling going on in the Lounge at CASA MUNRAS and the Patio Room is going to have some fancy indirect lighting installed to show off the pictures to the best advantage, but the Patio Room is open in the meantime and the pictures are in the lobby and you may eat your cake and look at it too, at CASA MUNRAS.

In HOWARD'S DRESS SHOP, on Alvarado Street in Monterey, we found a gray suit we had to slip into, all one of us. And very distinguished and smooth it looked too. The coat with its wide revers and its broad shoulders fitted with never a wrinkle, smooth as silk from the collar to the edge of the jacket, long enough to give a slim look to waist and hips. The skirt is simple, with a fly-front pleat in front, and a slit on either side, and very neat and trim it looked. The coat has two lower pockets with flaps and a set in breast pocket. The cut of the suit is enough to wax lyrical about, but the material itself should make HOWARD'S dance with pride. The suit is made from an all-wool men's wear worsted—a hard-finished material that takes and keeps pressing, and remains crisp and immaculate. The color is a dove gray with a fine chalk stripe, and the wool has the sort of silky bloom to it that marks fine fabrics. More remarkable, this suit at HOWARD'S costs only $32.98.

LIAL'S MUSIC SHOP, down on the corner of Monte Verde and Ocean, has the steepest steps in town, but once safely down and inside the shop you can find whatever you like in records and secluded booths to play them in. There's a new album in of six dances recorded by the Philadelphia 'Pops' Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Ormandy and Saul Caston. These dances illustrate the universal nature of dance music. Every culture every where has had its dancing and in this album are tantalizing reminders that Brazilians, Hungarian Gypsies, Austrians and Russians have all cut a rug in their time. Included in the album are the Russian Sailors' Dance from Gliere's "Red Poppy", the wild voodoo like rhythms of Fernandez' Malazarte-Batique, the Dance of the Comedians from Smetana's "Bartered Bride", Dvorak's Slavonic Dance number 10, Brahms' Hungarian Dance number 5, and Johann Strauss' Wine, Woman and Song.

While deftly covering pieces of young tender chicken with flour and bread-crembs, George Rosales, in THE CARMEL RESTAURANT AND FOUNTAIN, told wonderful things about Sunday dinner at THE CARMEL RESTAURANT. In detail he spoke about a certain chicken fricassee with dumplings, and prime ribs of beef. Then he went on to mention roast spring lamb, and maybe even ham, and a chicken royale soup, rich with cream and vegetables and diced eggs. He concluded with a wise word about EGGNOG pudding and chocolate chiffon pie which augurs

PAYS TRIBUTE

On the feature page of this issue of the Pine Cone is a poem, "Paderewski", written by Charlotte Kellogg (Mrs. Vernon Kellogg). It appeared in the June 29 issue of the Washington Post, and it commemorates the laying of a wreath on the tomb of the great artist-statesman on the anniversary of his death. Mrs. Kellogg, mother of Jean Kellogg of Carmel Highlands and very well known here, accomplished a great work for Poland during the war.

more than good for you when dining Sunday at THE CARMEL RESTAURANT. If you want more details, you know where to find them.

New Measures Taken For Dolores Traffic

White markers indicating parking stalls will be painted along the curb on Dolores between Ocean and Seventh by the Street Department, upon recommendation by Chief of Police Roy Fraties. It is hoped this measure will help to relieve the congestion by limiting the amount of space each car should have.

Because drivers have been abusing the privilege of double parking on the street, and as a safety measure, police have been instructed to "crack down" on offenders, beginning immediately.

Ella M. Clement

Mrs. Ella M. Clement passed away yesterday morning at her home on San Carlos. A native of Stockton, she was 73 years of age and had resided in this community since 1924.

Surviving are: her husband, Harry Clement of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Wanda Leslie of Carmel, and two sisters, Mrs. Pink Atcheson and Mrs. Maud Stevenson, both of Stockton.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Wallace Mortuary in Stockton.

Vacation

Mrs. DeWitt Appleton and her son, Gary, spent a week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. "Bo" Terrell at their home in Reno. Mr. Appleton drove up to bring them home and now the Appleton family is spending the Labor Day weekend at Big Sur.

Re-election of Myron Oliver as president of the Carmel Art Association took place at last Thursday's special meeting of the board of directors, held at the gallery. Other officers elected were: Paul Whitman, vice-president, Nora Grabill, secretary and Earl Price, treasurer. The next regular meeting of the board of directors will be held September 4.

Editorials...

(Continued from Page One) consists of Applied Science, Machinery and Quarterly Dividends. For these are the rulers of the so-called rulers. And mankind has been forced to bow before the blind, insensate juggernauts which they created.

There was a time, within the memory of living men, when beauty was still considered important; when ideals were not yet forgotten; when Ethics and Philosophy occupied an indispensable part in college curriculums; when the covers of popular magazines were not an affront to the eye; when the family stayed home several nights a week. But the pundits of modern science and the leaders of industry have striven zealously; the money changers have continued assiduously boring from within. And now—

We have the automobile to keep us from home; we have the radio to keep us from thinking; and we have the atom bomb to keep us from daring to look ahead lest we should see what materialism will bring us tomorrow.
